Freeman Cites Former Cases Of Censorship Issues at MSU

Edmund L. Freeman addressed Montana Forum Friday noon on censorship cases involving MSU personnel since he has been on campus.

Mr. Freeman, professor of English, said that he accepted Leslie Armour's (professor of philosophy) statement concerning the present censorship issue on campus.

He complimented the students on their efforts toward free thinking and writing.

"I have admired the Kaimin," he said, "since I first came to the campus. I feel that it has maintained its freedom above any other student facility."

He cited the case of Louis Levine who did mining taxation investigations and was suspended by the administration for insubordination for publication of his own pamphlet dealing with this subject.

Levine was hired by the New York World as a foreign correspondent and was later reinstated by the University, although he never taught here after his initial dismissal.

Another case Mr. Freeman discussed was that of Sidney Cox who taught at the University from 1920-26. He was advisor to the student magazine, Frontier, and as a result of two stories appearing in this magazine, he was verbally attacked all over the state of Montana. He left Montana and taught at Dartmouth and became one of its most distinguished professors.

Mr. Freeman also cited cases he had known at MSU involving censorship of material either written by or sanctioned by professors.

Carol Cooper, chairman of Montana Forum, announced that next week's program would be a continuation of the censorship issue.

Johns Hopkins Defeats U Team In 'Bowl' Test

Four seniors representing MSU in the General Electric College bowl in New York were defeated Sunday by Johns Hopkins University by a score of 360-45.

Members of the MSU team were Donald Hubbard, Zena Beth McGlashan, James Polk and Terry Stephenson. Melvin C. Wren, chairman of the history department and team coach, accompanied the group.

General Electric awarded $1,500 to the winning Johns Hopkins University, and $500 to the runner-up MSU.

The show, moderated by Allen Ludden, pits two teams of four members in a rapid-fire test of knowledge and recall of facts.

Korean Military Overthrows Government

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korean military troops under a Revolutionary Committee staged a coup with flourishes of gunfire early Tuesday but U.S. and U.N. authorities threw strong support behind the government of Prime Minister John M. Chang.

An army revolutionary group led by the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Chang do-Young, claimed over Seoul radio that it had toppled the government of Prime Minister John M. Chang, successor to Syngman Rhee.

In their initial statements the revolutionaries under the army chief of staff emphasized a claim that they were pro-American.

A statement by U.S. embassy Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green said the embassy supported Chang's "freely elected and constitutionally established government."

The statement said Gen. Carter MacGruder, American U.N. commander in South Korea, "called upon all military personnel in his command to support the only recognized government of the Republic of South Korea headed by Prime Minister Shange Myung John Chang."

"Gen. MacGruder expects the chiefs of the Republic of Korea armed forces will use their authority and influence to see that control is immediately turned back to the lawful governmental authorities and that order is restored in the armed forces," the statement added.

There was no comment from the State Department in Washington on the general's statement.

Spurs Tap New Members, More Than Last Year

Thirty freshman women were tapped this morning between 5 and 7 o'clock to Tanan of Spur, sophomore women's service honorary.

The women were informally tapped at their residences. They will be officially tapped at an SOS Thursday night, according to Eva Neisser, publicity chairman of Spurs.

Five more Spurs were chosen this year than in the past.

The new Spurs are Roberta Anderson, Joan Bachman, Kay Baldwin, Eleanor Benett, Beverly Boorman, Chris Cheetham, Marti Davis, Marguerite Doyle, Lynn Eyer, Sharon Flynn and Charlene Frojen.

Johnson Hears That Red China to Fall in 18 Months

HONG KONG (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has received information indicating the Communist regime in China conceivably could collapse in a year to 18 months due to internal stresses.

An authoritative source, reporting this yesterday, said these views came to Johnson from respectable sources and are worthy of consideration.

The estimate of Chinese prospects does not square with available information from most informed sources in Hong Kong.

Johnson in a speech at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., last week declared the next 12-18 months would most likely be a period of maximum danger from Communist China. He did not elaborate on this remark, or give a reason for the time estimate.

U. S. Population Increases By 3 Million in Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's population has increased by about three million since the house-to-house census in April 1960.

The Census Bureau estimated yesterday that the total population, excluding service personnel stationed abroad, was 182,269,000 on April 1, this year. The census count a year earlier was 179,323,175.

The total population including the armed forces abroad on April the final program in the 1960-61 lecture series.

Mr. Stukenbroeker was born in Nevada, Mo., and received his elementary and high school education in Missouri and Kansas. He was graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in 1942 with a Ph.D. in East European and Russian history.

He entered the FBI as a special agent in November, 1942, and has served in the Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Cleveland divisions. At the present time he is assigned to the headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Education Beamed Down From Circling Classroom

CHICAGO (AP) — A converted airliner circled over Indiana today broadcasting the first educational television programs to a score of schools in six states.

The plane crammed with six tons of ultra high frequency TV equipment, beamed experimental, taped lectures as part of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction MPATI test of an aerial tests was a sister ship, identical in equipment, which will serve as a standby. It did not broadcast today, but went through the flight plans.

Bus Destroyed by Bomb In 'Freedom Riders' Test

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A bus was destroyed by a firebomb and several members of a racially mixed group of "freedom riders" were beaten as they tried to bring their test of bus station color barriers to Alabama Sunday.

Members of the group, 16 white and 8 Negro, vowed at a rally Sunday night, however, to continue their swing that started in Washington 11 days ago.

Their original schedule called for them to go from Birmingham to Montgomery today.

Ballet Final Performance Called Excellent, Poignant

By MARIE STEPHENSON

Ballet at MSU made a poignant farewell this weekend and an otherwise sad occasion was a final triumph for Mrs. Marnie Cooper, instructor of ballet and director of the Ballet Theater.

The general excellence of the entire performance was a tribute to Mrs. Cooper's talent and dedication.

"La Cendrillon," set to the music of Bizet, combined the classic ballet "Cinderella" with the charming story of rivalries within a ballet troupe. As the young heroine, Sandra Swank was excellent in the informal rehearsal scenes and in the actual performance of "Cinderella."

Kathy Joseph and David Thomas displayed a fine sense of comedy in their portrayals of the temperamental prima ballerina and the impresario. George Klein portrayed the premier danseur with a deft vitality.

Later in New Orleans

"Streetcar Named Desire," based on Tennessee Williams' play and using the music of Alex North, told the story of the destruction of Blanche Dubois with the shattering of her life-lie in the squalid reality of a New Orleans slum.

Sandra Swank in her brilliant performance as the deranged Blanche DuBois was clearly the star of the evening. Her grace was that of the gentle Blanche, her frantic flutterings those of the Blanche finally pushed over the edge of sanity.

Bill Gehler was an appropriately brutal Stanley Kowalski while Nancy Senechal gave a sympathetic performance as the gentle Stella.

As Mitch, George Klein showed a fine grasp of his part of Blanche's suitor who betrayed and was betrayed.

With Ravel, Goodbye

"Au Revoir," using the music of Ravel as its setting, told the piquant story of Prince Roland and his quest for his true love while unwittingly killing that love.

Mrs. Cooper was, as usual, excellent in her performance as Nicolette, the beautiful girl doomed because of her favor in the kingdom.

Bill Gehler and Jerry Welling as Prince Roland and Prince John showed a fine grasp of their roles of evil and good led astray by evil.

David Thomas, Jacqueline Yu and Geraldine Hashisaki were charming in their portrayal of an Oriental family, their performance adding a change-of-pace to "Au Revoir."

Fairies and elves, portrayed by Mrs. Cooper's younger students and the corps de ballet added a special grace to the evening.

Awards Given At Stone Night

A total of $500 in awards was given Sunday at the fifth annual Dean Stone Night.

Marie Stephenson was given the Dean Store Award of $100 which is given to a journalism student entering the senior year for outstanding scholarship and achievement in journalism.

The $150 Mosby Award in radio-television journalism, given on the basis of ability, initiative and special interest in that field, was split between Ray Maidment and Jerry Colness.

The O. S. Warden Award of $100, given to the journalism student entering the sophomore year on the basis of achievement and scholarship in the freshman year, was also split between two students—Wilbur Wood and Jerry Holloron.

Judy Rollins received the $50 Helen Matheson-Lee Newspapers Award for noteworthy devotion to her education.

The Robert Struckman Memorial Award of $100, awarded by the Great Falls Newspaper Guild for the best feature story submitted by a journalism student, was won by Judy MeVey in first place and Bill Howell in second.

Mary Lou Cushman and Gail Keilman received honorable mentions for their features.

Wayne Names Water Mites For Professor

Royal Brunson, professor of zoology, has been honored in an unusual way by David Cook, Wayne University authority on water mites.

Piona brunsona, a recently discovered species of the water mite, is named after Mr. Brunson, according to P. L. Wright, chairman of the zoology department. Athenemania brunsoni, a water mite, and Discus brunsoni, a snail, have also been named after Mr. Brunson in the past.

Mr. Brunson's discovery of a new species of euglena several years ago resulted in the name Montana euglena, Mr. Wright said.

WE ALL GOT TROUBLES

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Communist party paper, said recently that freight trains are speeding back and forth across this country carrying scrap metal to factories which have just shipped away surplus scrap metal. The paper said the reason for this mixup was the fact that various government departments were not coordinating their efforts.

A Challenge to You

Pres. Kennedy, in a speech to the Bureau of Advertising of the American Publishers Association, suggested two "requirements that may seem almost contradictory in tone, but which must be reconciled and fulfilled if we are to meet this national peril . . . greater public information . . . greater official secrecy."

Official secrecy is, without a doubt, necessary for national security. The extent of this official secrecy corresponds, as it has in every century, to the danger of the peril faced. Our enemies make no misunderstanding of their intentions and goals. The freedom we express to combat the enemies of freedom is the freedom of self restrictions. The editors and publishers must determine the enormity of the danger we face and take steps accordingly for official secrecy. The preservation of the American way of life is the object of the need for these restrictions, but the real beauty of the restrictions is that when the peril is beaten the restrictions may be self-removed.

Accordingly, if the responsibilities of freedom are met, a free society is most strong when it is most free. The real problem lies herein—we fear the penalties of freedom, among which are apathy and ignorance.

"Greater public information" was the first of the two needs Pres. Kennedy called upon the publishers and editors of the United States to help provide. Considering freedom of expression and that publishing is a profitable business, the United States has provided, perhaps more than any other nation, its citizens with a wealth of public information.

An actor dies, an astronaut in the sky, a president is elected, a country revolts. Any person may have the news of these events from as many different sources, with as many different angles, with as many different comments as could possibly be offered him. It cannot be assumed that a person will read, no matter the quantity or quality of the material offered him. He will read what he believes more often, even though it may be a repetition, than he will read a challenging idea, or anything contrary to his beliefs, however selfish they may be.

The problem lies with the individual on whom our society is built. Persons who will not read what is offered, persons so set in their beliefs that they can not be altered, persons that will accept only what the people they believe in give them are the problem.

The solution lies with the individual and not with the editors or publishers. The solution lies in the realization that our peril is a challenge against the freedoms of man, the individual, and not with the nation. This challenge must be met by the individual acting in unison with the nation.

Townpeople Shocked, Dismayed at Discontinuance of Ballet

To the Kaimin:

As one having had the privilege the past two seasons of taking advantage of the adult evening class in Marnie Cooper's "School of Dance," the very wonderful and worthwhile ballet program which has been established as part of the Fine Arts curriculum for many years at the Montana State University, I have written and promoted the circulation of the following letter. The signers of this letter claim the expression herein as their sentiment in protest of the recent decision to discontinue ballet and are as follows:

Janet Seliski, Marilyn M. Rusoff, Lester R. Rusoff, Marguerite L. Polhamus, Mrs. Leonard E. Kuffel, Mrs. Robert Sternitz, Mrs. Catherine Everinglane, Charlotte G. Fields, Anella Aemisegger, Florence Chessin, Jeanne K. Beaty, G. E. Loeffler, Mrs. G. R. Putzker, Nancy J. Wallace, Wilma Lohn, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall, Anna Mae Hughes, Harold E. Wallace, Ahio Yu, Jean Pfeiffer, Barbara Hammen, Totsye H. Daly, Margaret Carson, Mollie Hamilton, Frances Hamilton, Joyce Wright, Jeanne Lewis, Fred Poe, Frank Joachimsthaler, ane Brown, Marian Lund, Valerie Clubb, Roger C. Lund, R. M. Grimes, Paul A. Carter, Oscar J. Hammen, Jacqueline L. Moffatt and Hubert J. Moffatt, Jr., Maxine Wilson, James D. Converse, Jeanette Vargo, George D. Lewis.

As this is of major importance to your university, I would suggest that you print it in your paper.

ANELLA AEMISEGGER

Dear President Newburn:

News of your striking the Ballet program from the University curriculum has reached us.

Many are the local people, as well as those associated with the University, who have enjoyed and benefited through Marnie Cooper's "School of Dance."

Mrs. Cooper has, through the medium of her ballet program, created a tie between the University and the community. In other words, she has succeeded in selling the people on the importance of a phase of University education. What can be more important to the survival of our schools of higher learning than for the people to realize and appreciate the influence of the more cultural things that a school of higher learning can and should give. The number of adults Mrs. Cooper has had in her evening classes the past few years, as well as her children's classes, give testimony to this. The tremendous success with which her performances meet give added proof, too. Mrs. Cooper is truly an exceptional artist in her field.

Students Challenge Faculty to Softball

To the Kaimin:

We, the Sinfonians, after considering challenging the faculty to a rough-and-tumble game of football have reconsidered, due to the softness and old age of said faculty, and hereby challenge them to a game of softball at their convenience.

If Dr. Oakland can manage to get the ball up to the plate or in the general vicinity we will assure you of a splendid display of batting ability.

As a special concession, due to respect for the elderly, we will let the faculty decide the number of innings to be played. We don't want the faculty to be to pooped to pop (flies that is!)

TRANSFUSION FOR BUDGET

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Students at Michigan Tech are pushing a campus blood donations drive to bolster the school's budget after a legislative cut in funds.

Members of the student body of 1,300 are being asked to sell their blood and turn the money over to the college as a partial answer to the legislature's $69,000 cut in Michigan Tech's operating fund for next year.

as can be attested by all from the least learned to the most expert.

Through her program of ballet, Mrs. Cooper has given Montana State University a rare specialty not enjoyed by all schools of higher learning. Looking at it strictly from the standpoint of economy, the hours of work Mrs. Cooper has expended, and the number of pupils she teaches in relation to her rating as part-time instructor, more than offsets the salary she is getting. If she were getting a full-time rating, she would still be an economy asset to the school figuring from the viewpoint of time and effort expended. The fact that many students have chosen to come to Montana State University because it offers this wonderful program of ballet further proves Mrs. Cooper's effectiveness. No, you cannot claim this cut as a measure of economy.

Looking at the ballet program from the standpoint of physical education, there is no program which will cultivate so much coordination and elasticity of the mind and muscle as does ballet.

Many of the people who have had the advantage of ballet will tell you that they have noticed a tremendous improvement in other things demanding dexterity such as typing, driving a car; all manner of sports such as golf, tennis, swimming, football—anything that requires rhythmic co-ordination between wind and muscle. Also it can and does produce greater mental coordination and efficiency in subjects of thought. Yes, ballet is a most desirable item on your physical education program!

Now to consider this matter from the standpoint of culture and education—and it is too bad that this phase should be mentioned last, because to a people appreciative of higher education and the things it can do in one's life, this should be the primary consideration. No other art can give more beauty and quality of expression of the inner soul and spirit than does ballet.

It is with shock and dismay that we learn of plans to discontinue a program so valuable to the University system.

Ballet Students Regret Backward Step

To the Kaimin:

We, students of the Ballet Department, wish to express our sincere regrets for the elimination of ballet from MSU curriculum. We believe that this is a step backwards in cultural development and that it will prevent MSU students, and other members of the community, from artistic entertainment.

We want to thank Mrs. Marnie

Cooper for the splendid work she has done and for the opportunity she has given us to learn and appreciate ballet.

We invite comments from other members of the student body on the elimination of ballet from MSU.

Grizzlies Prepare for Aggie Invasion

Montana's tennis, golf and baseball teams will offer squads from Utah State University competition on three fronts in Missoula Thursday.

The teams from both schools will complete regular play in the Western Division of the Skyline with the contests Thursday.

Montana's and USU's track teams finished the 1961 dual-meet schedule during the weekend, and both schools will send track and field representatives to Provo, Utah for the Western Division championships Saturday.

The Grizzly track squad picked up its first conference victory of the season Saturday with a 72½ to 58½ win over the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

Montana's mile-relay team established a Western Division record during the meet with a running of 3:15 in the event. The old mark of 3:15.3 was set in 1957 by Brigham Young University. The Skyline record is 3:14.4, also set by BYU in 1957.

Both the Grizzly and the USU Aggie baseball teams saw action during the weekend, and both teams split doubleheaders with their respective opponents.

Montana took a 15 to 7 non-conference opener from Montana State College Saturday and then dropped the second game, a seven-inning contest, 4 to 2.

The Aggies shared victory honors with the University of Utah in a pair of conference games Friday; both games went for extra innings. Utah State won the first game 3 to 2 in 8 innings, and Utah's Redskins took the nightcap 2 to 1 after 10 innings of play.

The Grizzlies are in third place in the Western Division with a 2 and 6 record. USU holds down the bottom spot with two wins and eight losses in conference play.

In the first meeting of the season between Montana and Utah State the clubs split a doubleheader despite a no-hit game pitched by MSU's Mike Dishman. Dishman lost his no-hitter 2 to 1, but the Grizzlies came back in the second contest to grab a 6 to 2 victory over the Aggies.

Ed Komac pitched Montana's victory over MSC Saturday and will probably see action against Utah State. Butch Hendricks, the winning hurler in both of MSU's conference victories, is likely to assume pitching duties along with Komac.

Montana's tennis and golf teams return to action Thursday after two weeks inactivity. MSU's tennis team is in third place in the Western Division with a 1 and 3 record, and the golf squad is in fourth with an 0 to 4 record.

The Aggie tennis team, 0 and 4, will be seeking its first conference victory of the season against the Grizzlies. Montana beat Utah State 4 to 3 on the courts earlier this season.

Utah State's golf team has a 1 and 3 conference record. The lone Aggie win came in April when Utah State stopped the Grizzlies 15 to 3.

The Skyline Conference tennis playoffs begin in Provo Utah May 26, and the golf playoffs will open on the same day in Albuquerque, New Mexico at the University of New Mexico.

Sigma Nu Drops Phi Delts To Gain Spot in Tourney

Sigma Nu gained the right to play in the post-season intramural tournament by dumping defending champion Phi Delta Theta 8 to 1 yesterday at the Cloverbowl.

Sigma Nu began scoring in the first inning, and scored at least one run in each of the remaining innings.

Larry Riley scored the first Sigma Nu run in the first inning on an error that allowed Tim Aldrich to reach first base. Aldrich later scored on an infield ground ball.

PDT tried to cut the run off at the plate, but Aldrich beat the throw.

In the second inning, Mike Buckley, SN pitcher, reached first base on an error and was followed by a single contributed by Roger Kotila. Buckley scored on a single by Bill Boettcher, and Kotila scored on an error.

Phi Delt scored its only run in the third inning when Hal Frazer opened the inning with a single and scored on a triple hit by Terry Dillon.

Sigma Nu came back with a three-run outburst in the bottom of the third inning on a walk, back-to-back doubles by Dave Aldrich and Buckley and an error. SN added one more run in the fourth inning.

Buckley allowed PDT only five hits in gaining the victory, and Sigma Nu collected seven hits off Lee Proder and G. T. Guenin. Buckley and Proder both struck out two during the game.

Buckley allowed three walks during the contest, and three Sigma Nus reached first base via the walk route.

Sigma Nu will play Scourge at 5 p.m. tomorrow in the intramural tournament.

Softball Tourney to See League Victors Fight for Championship

Sigma Chi and RX will clash on Field One while Sigma Nu and Scourge pair off on Field Two tomorrow at 5 p.m. to begin the intramural softball tournament.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Fraternity League champions, and Full House, A League champions, drew byes for the first day's action. SAE will play the winner of the Sigma Nu-Scourge game, and Full House will play the winner of the RX-Sigma Chi game.

Full House topped the A League with an 8-0 record, Scourge (6-2) finished second and RX and Forestry tied for third with 5-3 records. RX gained the right to play in the tournament by defeating Forestry 14 to 10 in a playoff game Saturday.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon (7-1) topped the Fraternity League for the third year in a row, and Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta tied for second with 6-2 records.

Sigma Chi won a coin flip and was named second-place Fraternity League team in the tournament, and Sigma Nu defeated Phi Delt 8 to 1 to gain the other spot in the tournament.

Phi Delt won the intramural tournament last year, and SAE took second.

M-Club Fights Are Scheduled

A pair of 130-pound featherweights are scheduled to battle in the main-event of the Annual M-Club Fights Thursday night in the MSU Field House, according to John Meese, fight director.

Vern Snyder of Ronan and Gerald Gray of Browning, both experienced amateur fighters, top the M. Club card.

Snyder will bring a record of 80 wins and 8 losses into the ring Thursday evening. Snyder, employed in Ronan, has been the Inland Empire Champion, a Golden Gloves Champion and a Divisional Champion in the United States Marine Corps.

Gray, an MSU student, has a 70 and 8 record in amateur competition. Gray has also held the Inland Empire crown, and at one time was the Northwest Golden Gloves Champion.

Meese said that three other fights have already been arranged for the evening, and that eight fights, including the main event, is the goal set by the members of M-Club.

Meese said students interested in participating in the fights should contact him at the Phi Delta Theta house. There are still spots open on Thursday's fight card, according to Meese.

The fights will begin immediately after the annual Grizzly intrasquad football game. Tickets are now on sale at the MSU Field House.

Shank, Ranstrom WRA Champions

Barbara Shank and Linda Ranstrom won first place in the intermediate and novice matches in the annual women's intramural tennis tournament, Saturday.

The women competed against Anne Burke and Bamby Beaumont who placed second, in the final playoff, according to Roberta Anderson, WRA tennis director.

Fifteen women competed in the tournament.

MSU Blood Drive Is Short of Quota

The 417 pints of blood collected in last week's blood drawing campaign fell short of the 555 pint quota, and was nearly 200 less than the 619 pints collected by MSC April 11-13.

The blood drive got off to a slow start Tuesday when only 104 pints were collected from 127 volunteers, according to Jake Nelson, blood drive chairman. Wednesday 175 pints were collected from 189 volunteers, but this was still short of the quota of 185 pints per day. Thursday only 138 pints were collected from 171 volunteers.

A traveling trophy will be given to the living group with the highest percentage of their members donating blood, Nelson said.

Cater Speaks On News Ideas At Stone Night

Douglass Cater, Washington editor for Reporter Magazine, spoke on "News and the Nation's Security," Sunday night at the fifth annual Dean Stone banquet in the Lodge.

"Is all the news fit to print?" was the question pursued and answered by Cater in his address. He spelled out an answer to President Kennedy's recent request of the nation's press to ask not only, "Is it news?" but "Is it in the best interests of the national security?"

Cater advocated that the government use a top flight adviser to sift the news—"not necessarily a censor-minded individual"—and to "supplement" portions of news which might threaten the country's security.

Cater pointed out that the press has become uniquely indispensable in the workings of our government which is a government of separate institutions. The nation's news system serves as an unofficial courier between these agencies.

He advanced the idea that ours has become almost a government of news and publicity in that the press helps set priorities for the people and politicians. The press has become part of the government's selection process, he said, sorting out the trivial from the more important issues for action.

The speaker advocated the same self-restraint a local newspaper uses when it declines to make public facts which might impede a police investigation of a criminal case be used by national media in dealing with the United States government where the stakes are in the nuclear war category.

THINGS BAD ALL OVER

LONDON (AP) — Indignant Muscovites flooded the Communist party paper Pravda with letters complaining about shoddy goods sold in stores, Moscow radio reported.

Aquamaids Elect, Plan Annual Show

Sara Blackburn was elected president of Aquamaids at a recent meeting at the University pool.

Other officers elected were Sue Lintz, vice president; Sandy Croonenberghs, secretary; and Kitty Van Vliet, treasurer, according to Miss Blackburn.

Plans were begun for next year's Aquamaid show at the meeting.

QUEEN MAY GO LATIN

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II is considering traveling next year to South America, the only continent she has not visited, reliable sources said.
